

Basic Reference Tools on Korea

The reference tools included in this list are based mainly on ones held at the Korea Collection of the University of Hawaii at Manoa (UHM), which now contains about 1,200 reference titles. It may not cover all the basic reference tools available. Suggestions for inclusion of other titles by the users of this list are expected to make it more useful.

Titles published before 1989 are excluded, since they are covered in Eugene Hyung-suk Chai's An Annotated Bibliography of Korean Reference Books (1989). Chai's Bibliography is an excellent and very useful compilation of reference materials on Korea. I recommend that every Korea collection have a copy. This "Basic Reference Tools on Korea" includes some serial titles, even though they are covered in Chai's work, if they are still being published and belong to the 'basic' category. Further, this list does not attempt to cover the vast number of electronic resources but limits itself to CD-ROMs and the most important websites. For a list of electronic resources for Korean studies see the online list at the Korea Collection homepage <<http://www.hawaii.edu/asiaref/korea/inter.html>>

A few words on organization.

- References on this list are organized first by reference type (e.g., bibliography, biography, etc.) for the most general reference works. Following this, the more specific reference tools are organized by disciplinary subject (e.g., art, architecture, history, etc.).
- When there is no English title available for a reference written in Korean language, the title in Chinese characters in brackets is provided.
- Because they are too numerous, travel guidebooks are not included here. They are easily identifiable (Fodor's; Lonely Planet, etc.). Many travel guides are also available on the web.
- References without publication years are serial publications.
