EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

UNIVERSITY OF HAWAI‘I AT MĀNOA
LIBRARY SERVICES

Enclosed for your information is the approved reorganization of the University of Hawai‘i at Manoa, Library Services program. The reorganization creates an organizational separation of the functions and staff in the University Archives and Manuscripts Collection from the Special Collections Department. This separation will reflect the physical and operational separation that has already taken place, and acknowledges the growing attention being devoted to these activities and services.

Consistent with the University’s and the Library’s strategic plans, this reorganization moves to enhance services to the Library’s primary constituents, i.e., students, faculty, and staff.

No new funds are requested to implement the reorganization. The Head of University Archives and Manuscripts will receive a department head stipend of $125 per month, annually renewable, to be absorbed by the Library’s existing budget.

REORGANIZATION
LIBRARY SERVICES
UNIVERSITY OF HAWAI‘I AT MĀNOA

I. NARRATIVE REPORT

A. DESCRIPTION OF THE EXISTING ORGANIZATION

The Library Services program is an academic support organization. Its resources and services are designed to nourish and enhance all University programs, particularly those programs that take advantage of Hawai‘i’s unique location, physical and biological environment and rich cultural setting. In fulfilling this mission, the Library selects, acquires, organizes, preserves and provides intellectual and physical access to collections in a wide range of formats. The Library fosters the sharing of its resources among all UH system campus libraries. It facilitates access to collections held by other academic institutions, government agencies and commercial providers of information. Electronically connected to information resources through the world, the Library contributes to global networked information resources and provides assistance and education in information retrieval.

The Library Services program provides direct services to the academic and research programs of the University. It encompasses traditional reference and circulation services, electronic digital bibliographical and information retrieval services, and library instruction services. It is responsible for the preservation, organization, and provision of access to book, journal, electronic, and non-print collections. It provides acquisitions, cataloging, and other processing related activities.
Services and support activities are provided in Hamilton Library, Sinclair Library, and Jefferson Hall. During the Fall and Spring semesters Hamilton Library maintains 9 specialized service points, and is open 92.5 hours a week; during the Fall and Spring semesters Sinclair Library maintains 2 specialized service points and is open 82.5 hours a week.

The University Librarian administers the program. The University Librarian reports to the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs at the University of Hawaii at Manoa. The library is organized along three main organizational streams: the public services division composed of seven public service departments which are coordinated by the Head of the Public Services Division (a library faculty appointee); the four library processing operations departments which are coordinated by the Head of the Collections Services Division (a library faculty appointee); and the Library Information Technology Division which is headed by the Assistant University Librarian for Library Information Technology (a managerial appointee).

Librarian positions #83144, #83241, #83674 and Library Assistant IV position #14369, currently located in the Special Collections Department are affected by the reorganization proposal. Librarian positions #83144, #83241 and Library Assistant IV #14369 will move to a separate department under Public Services. Librarian position #83674 will be reassigned to the Special Collections Hawaiian/Pacific unit. The attached existing and proposed Functional Statements describe in further detail the organizational units in the Library.

B. DESCRIPTION OF PROPOSED ORGANIZATION

The essential components of the departments within the Library Services Program remain unchanged. Services to students and faculty are not changed in substance by this reorganization but will be enhanced. Hours of public services and building hours will not be changed as a result of this reorganization.

The following change is proposed:

Separate the University Archives and Manuscripts Collection out of Special Collections (Chart VII). The University Archives and Manuscripts will be a separate department under Public Services. This collection is now physically and operationally separated and its expanded role justifies organizational separation as well.

C. BACKGROUND/NATURE OF THE PROPOSED REORGANIZATION

1. Factors prompting the proposed reorganization.

Changes reflected in the reorganization proposal below do not affect the mission of the Library Services program, nor do they affect the nature of services provided to the Library's clientele—students, faculty, staff and the community.

The changes have been made for the following reasons:

The University Archives and Manuscripts Collections have been physically relocated to the Hamilton Addition and to Jefferson Hall at the East West Center, away operationally and functionally from the rest of Special Collections which are located in the Hamilton 5th floor on Phase II. The physical relocation of the Archives and Manuscripts collections highlighted concerns that the unit should be reorganized as a separate department from Special Collections.

The separation is intended to accomplish the following:

a. Provide greater focus, based on content: The University Archives and Manuscript collections comprise archival materials related to the University of Hawai'i as well as many other collections such as the Hawai'i War Records Depository and the Congressional Papers Collection. Special Collections primarily comprise published print and media resources on Hawai'i and the Pacific. The two areas attract different kinds of researchers, who use the materials in different ways.

b. Provide greater focus, based on processing needs: Archival materials are historical papers that arrive unprocessed or partially processed; they require specialized processing based on national archival standards in bulk units called “series.” They are described by using a tool called a "finding aid," gathered in special acid-free folders, and housed in special acid-free boxes. Researchers look at these materials one box or folder at a time, in a carefully monitored climate-controlled Reading Room. Special Collections primarily comprise published print and media resources that are cataloged, shelved, and used like traditional library books or media, although in a more careful and respectful way that reflects their rarity and delicate state.

c. Increase productivity: University Archives and Manuscripts staff will concentrate on development of streamlined processing methods to increase access to currently "hidden" (i.e. unprocessed) materials. This is particularly crucial for materials related to the University of Hawai‘i, which will be in greater demand as the 2007 Centennial of the University approaches.

d. Provide expert reference and research assistance: Reference work for University Archives and Manuscripts requires a very different knowledge base from that needed for Special Collections. Rather than having professional staff in either University Archives and Manuscripts or Special Collections devolve into generalists by trying to serve multiple areas at a minimal level, it is more efficient to allow each to develop deeper expertise in their respective areas in order to provide appropriate service to researchers.

e. Public awareness: As the Library and the University strive to spotlight the unique heritage resources of the University Archives and Manuscripts collections, organizationally separating the unit will provide more direct impact to these collections and highlight their importance to the local community.

In summary, the UH Archives and Manuscripts Collections are invaluable primary resource materials - heritage collections that should be brought to the forefront. In order to be more efficient in making that happen, the staffing needs to be organizationally separated to recognize and legitimize that their focus is uniquely on the processing, reference and public service for these collections. Separating the unit, which is staffed by Certified Archivists, will accomplish this. To maintain the value of this collection, it is important for Library Services to seek candidates with specialized archival certification in future recruitment efforts.

2. Relationship of proposed reorganization to Library and University Strategic Plans

The mission of the Library Services program is... "to support the teaching, research and information needs of the faculty, students, staff and the community. ...Provide physical and intellectual access to the world of knowledge...and Preserve our local cultural heritage for future generations of students and scholars." The proposed reorganization supports this mission by enhancing the work of the University Archives and Manuscripts collection in its efforts to serve the local and University community with primary resource material.

Separating out and organizationally highlighting the University Archives and Manuscripts Collection supports the UH Manoa strategic imperative to "encourage research that benefits and involves the local community."

D. SPECIFIC NATURE OF THE PROPOSED REORGANIZATION

1. Principal Assumptions:

   No positions will be eliminated.

   No additional positions are requested to implement this reorganization.

   Implementation of this proposal does not require additional present or future resources from outside the Library Services current general fund budget.

   Existing office space will be utilized in the implementation of this reorganization.
2. Specific Details of the Proposed Reorganization

Positions #83144, #83241 and #14369 move to the newly established department of University Archives and Manuscripts.

Librarian position #83674 will be reassigned as the Special Collections Pacific Library Specialist.

3. Specific position actions

Librarian positions #83144 and 83241 will separate out of the Special Collections to the newly established department of University Archives and Manuscripts. One of the librarian positions will be the Head of the department.

Position #14369, which formerly reported to a civil service supervisor, will report to the Librarian Head of the department. The job description will be updated to reflect the change in reporting line and the duties updated specific to Archives and Manuscripts.

(See Chart A)

4. Estimated costs of the proposal

The Head of University Archives and Manuscripts will receive a department head stipend of $125 per month, annually renewable, to be absorbed by the Library's existing budget. The Library does not foresee an increase in this amount at this time. No new funds are requested to implement this reorganization.

5. Anticipated effect on classification or status of positions affected

No positions will be reclassified.

E. OTHER ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED

The changes described in this reorganization proposal are required to organize the archival unit to take advantage of the changed physical and operational environment created by the new building addition and renovation.
The alternative to this reorganization would have been to make no changes and transfer no positions, thus requiring an already overburdened staff to learn a wider variety of unrelated skills as the archival collections grow and public demand for them increases.

III  PROPOSED ORGANIZATION CHARTS

Attached are proposed organization charts I and VII.

IV.  PROPOSED FUNCTIONAL STATEMENT

Attached is a revised functional statement consistent with the organizational changes proposed.

LIBRARY SERVICES
UNIVERSITY OF HAWAI'I AT MĀNOA
FUNCTIONAL STATEMENT

The Library Services program is an academic support organization. The Library is an active participant in the teaching, research and service missions of the University. Its resources and services are designed to nourish and enhance all University programs, particularly those programs which take advantage of Hawai‘i’s unique location, physical and biological environment and rich cultural setting. In fulfilling this mission, the Library selects, acquires, organizes, preserves and provides intellectual and physical access to collections in a wide range of formats. The Library fosters the sharing of its resources among all UH system campus libraries. It facilitates access to collections held by other academic institutions, government agencies and commercial providers of information. Electronically connected to information resources throughout the world, the Library contributes to global networked information resources and provides assistance and education in information retrieval.

The Library Services program encompasses traditional reference and circulation services, electronic bibliographical and information retrieval services, bibliographic instruction services, responsibility for the book, journal and non-print collections, acquisitions, cataloging and other processing activities, responsibility for the UH system wide Hawai'i Voyager library online management system, and direct service to the academic and research programs.

The primary goal of the University Archives is to acquire, organize, and preserve the collections; to provide access and support for reference and research; and to provide useful documentation of the policies, people, achievements and events of the University of Hawai‘i.

The Manuscripts Collections, which include the Hawai‘i Congressional Papers Collection as well as other modern political papers, serve to document the people, politics and history pertaining to the State of Hawai‘i. The unit works with the University Librarian to acquire unique collections of significant historic value to the University or the state of Hawai‘i that support scholarly research, teaching and public awareness as well as promote an understanding and appreciation of Hawai‘i’s rich multi-cultural heritage.

V. COLLECTION SERVICES DIVISION

The Collection Services Division is responsible for acquiring, cataloging and organizing library collections, and maintaining such automated and manual catalogs and other records as necessary to facilitate access to the collections by library users. It prepares library material for shelving in the public stacks or elsewhere as appropriate. It oversees preservation and conservation activities to preserve the Library’s collections of material for future generations.

It coordinates and monitors activities involved with selection of library book, journals and non-print material including audiovisual and electronic media. It monitors and assesses the book fund expenditure plans, contractual arrangements and approval plans. Selection activities are coordinated to ensure compliance with collection development policy and to determine future areas of collection emphasis in line with University determined areas of program excellence.

The Head of the Collection Services Division coordinates the activities of the library departments involved in carrying out these activities.

COLLECTION SERVICES DEPARTMENTS

A. Acquisitions

Provides centralized services related to the ordering and receipt of library materials, in print and non-print formats (e.g. books, audiovisual materials, scores, maps, microforms, etc.) in all languages, to be added to the Library collections through purchase, gift, or exchange. Materials acquired are primarily monographic (single issue) in nature, but may include selected serial publications.

Monitors the contractual approval plans and gathering plans through which about 55% of the new monographic titles are automatically ordered and delivered, based on library determined selection profiles. Some material arrives shelf-ready. Maintains blanket orders, deposit accounts and monographic standing orders for materials from vendors, including those items related to Hawai‘i, Pacific, and Asia and other University areas of excellence. Works with book dealers to develop means of acquiring difficult to obtain materials such as out of print books. Confirms receipt of library materials. Authorizes payment of invoices for library materials and other transactions made against book funds. Monitors the timely expenditure of book funds.

Receives solicited and unsolicited gift material, acknowledging them in an appropriate manner. Searches and verifies Library holdings prior to selection review by subject bibliographers. Integrates accepted materials into the Library's processing workflow. Initiates and monitors exchange partnerships with libraries and other research institutions throughout the State, the nation and the world for exchange materials, both monographic and serial in nature.

materials into the processing workflow; offers unneeded or duplicate materials to UH system libraries or other institutions. Administers the exchange program, including arranging with the University Press of Hawai‘i and University departments for shipment of materials from them to other agencies here and abroad. Maintains appropriate records of all transactions.

B. Serials

Provides centralized services related to acquiring serial materials in all languages and formats and adding them to the library collection. Orders, receives, processes and copy catalogs new serial titles. Renews subscriptions and monitors performance of contractual vendors who handle the majority of subscriptions and standing orders. Records receipt of issues, maintains master records for serials holdings and requests missing issues of serials. Authorizes payment of invoices for serial materials received and integrates materials into the interdepartmental processing work flow. Assembles unbound serials for shipment to a commercial binder. It enters journal table of contents information into the Hawaii/Pacific UnCover database.

The Serials Department is divided into four teams, described below:

1. Serials Units I and II

These teams order, renew, receive process, pay for and perform copy cataloging on library serial materials. These two teams search, verify, order and renew serial titles requested by the library, corresponding with vendors as needed. Team members specialize by covering titles in different sections of the alphabet. They maintain online and/or manual records for all transactions. They verify and record receipt of serials, process invoices for payment, monitor vendor performance, and request missing issues. They transfer or withdraw serial titles. They search national databases for bibliographic information for new serial titles and copy catalog them.

2. Serials Unit III: Asia Vernacular/Serials Services

In addition, this team is the initial point of receipt for all serial materials received through the National Cataloging and Acquisitions Programs of the Library of Congress, including material in such exotic languages as Bengali and Tibetan. This team records receipt of unbound periodical issues of all types. In addition, this team prepares unbound serial materials for shipment to a commercial binder, and maintains binding records.
