The Office of Planning, Policy and Budget is an academic support office that has both functional and support responsibilities. The primary purpose of the Office of Planning, Policy and Budget is to support the Office of the President and the President's line administrative officers in the areas of planning, policy, budgeting, decision support and information management.

The Office has three major subdivisions for: (1) planning, policy and institutional research; (2) management and information systems; and (3) budget preparation and execution.

The Office of Planning, Policy and Budget facilitates the work of the line officers through assistance with budget preparation and execution; provision of accurate and timely information to University decision-makers for planning and management purposes; and provision of administrative computing support services. The office is responsible for managing Universitywide planning including developing, monitoring and revising the Strategic Plan and Agenda for Action, coordinating University planning with the Hawaii State Plan, managing the State Higher Education Functional Plan, overseeing campus academic development planning, and providing planning support. In addition to these internal responsibilities, the office plays a major role in supporting Board information and policy needs.
The Planning, Policy and Institutional Research Office is a systemwide academic support office with responsibility for managing Universitywide planning; providing planning support, coordinating policy development and analysis, and providing institutional research services.

Specifically, this section of the Office of Planning, Policy and Budget has functional responsibility for:

- Managing Universitywide planning, including monitoring and revising the Strategic Plan and Agenda for Action
- Coordinating University planning with the Hawaii State Plan
- Managing the State Higher Education Functional Plan process
- Handling liaison with State planning task forces
- Overseeing the University Academic Development Planning process
- Developing and implementing an interface between the systemwide planning and budgeting processes
- Supporting planning at the campus level
- Developing and executing planning policies and guidelines
- Developing and coordinating a systematic consideration of policy
- Preparing major policy studies
- Formulating Board and Executive policies across the full array of University activities
- Providing policy interpretation and guidance
- Making accurate and timely information and data analyses relating to students, enrollments, courses, curricula, degrees, etc., available to University decision-makers for planning and management purposes
- Conducting institutional studies and preparing analytical reports on a wide range of subjects including, for example, workload, financial planning, outcomes, student progress, etc.
• Providing decision support designed to improve the integration of planning and budgeting

• Developing and utilizing computer-based analyses that facilitate timely preparation of routine reports and responses to ad-hoc queries

• Assisting users with data interpretation and manipulation

• Managing universitywide student affairs operations

• Establishing and maintaining data element definitions and policy standards
PLANNING

This function involves responsibility for directing and managing Universitywide planning; coordinating academic development planning; serving as the State Functional Plan manager and the University liaison with State planning processes; directing planning and policy initiatives that serve to link planning and budgeting; and serving as the chief planning officer responsible for University planning analyses, policy development, monitoring, refinement, etc.

This function also involves the provision of planning support essential for the development, coordination, and implementation of a universitywide planning effort under the direction of the Director of Planning and Policy. Support functions include serving as a resource person to assist campuses in the planning process; providing for training and guidance on planning to university personnel; assisting with the development of unit planning processes and guides; serving as a resource for program assessment and evaluation; supporting campus academic development planning; assisting in the development of an analytical framework that links the planning and budgeting processes and facilitates priority-setting and execution at a campuswide level. Assists with the identification, analysis, and development of responses to planning issues facing the university; provides staff support for the monitoring, reporting and revision processes associated with the Hawaii State Plan, the State Higher Education Functional Plan, the Strategic Plan and Agenda for Action.
This function involves the analysis of University policy issues and the development and coordination of a systematic consideration of policy with the staff in the Office of Planning, Policy and Budget, the Vice Presidents, Chancellors and their staff, and campus officers. Specific functions include conducting research and institutional comparisons; preparing background and issue papers; preparing studies, reports, legislative testimony, and briefing papers; formulating policy statements, recommendations for action, and guidelines for implementation; providing policy interpretation and guidance; and handling responses to inquiries and ad-hoc requests. This function involves the analysis of a wide variety of policy issues spanning academic affairs, budget, fiscal, and personnel matters, and in particular systemwide oversight of student affairs policies. Oversight of universitywide student affairs operations is also a functional responsibility of this officer.
