FOR ORGANIZATION CHART I

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE OFFICE OF THE SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT FOR RESEARCH AND DEAN OF THE GRADUATE DIVISION

This office has leadership responsibility for the planning, direction, development, coordination, and management of research and graduate academic programs of the University of Hawaii, and the Senior Vice President serves as the chief policy advisor to the President in these areas. The office of the Dean of the Graduate Division is responsible for the supervision, development, and improvement of graduate education.

Senior Vice President for Research

The office directs the University's research and graduate education programs through the development of governing policies, the conduct of program planning and assessment, the determination of directions, and setting of priorities in response to new research opportunities, the formulation of University goals and objectives, the allocation and reallocation of resources, and the management of existing programs and organized research units.

The office is actively involved in encouraging and developing new research initiatives, in providing an environment conducive to research, in establishing approved new research and graduate programs, and in restructuring existing programs within policy. The office facilitates and encourages technology transfer and economic development activities by the University of Hawaii on a systemwide basis through the Office of Technology Transfer and Economic Development.

The office:

- Initiates and develops long-range planning studies for research and graduate education at the University of Hawaii;
- Administers a policy of continuing qualitative evaluation of each of the major efforts relative to the development and maintenance of an international standard of excellence;
- Coordinates the activities of the organized research units through the respective directors, and supports other research and graduate programs through the respective academic deans;

- Directs the University's research programs as implemented by the University's organized research units, serves as liaison between them and the President, and assists in the integration of research and teaching activities throughout the University;

- Directs research and training support through the Office of Research Services/Research Corporation of the University of Hawai'i. Directs the University's graduate programs through the Graduate Division, directs the School of Ocean & Earth Science & Technology through the Office of the Dean, directs the Hawai'i Institute of Tropical Agriculture and Human Resources, directs the College of Tropical Agriculture and Human Resources through the Office of the Dean, directs the Office of Technology Transfer and Economic Development through the Director, and directs the John A. Burns School of Medicine through the Office of the Dean;

- Selects/appoints University of Hawai'i representatives to various external and internal boards and committees associated with University programs;

- Serves as the President's representative for research with a variety of groups and agencies, both inside and outside the University, such as Federal and State agencies, other research institutes and universities, legislators, and the general public, which have the potential to take appropriate actions to enhance the University's research and graduate programs and capabilities; and

- Serves as the University's expert on the subject of research and graduate programs and activities.

- The Assistant Vice President for Research has been assigned the line authority for the Animal Care Advisory Committee, which reviews and approves protocol of any research involving the use of animals as mandated by U.S. laws and regulations; and for the Laboratory Animal Service, which is responsible for the animal facilities at UH Mānoa.

Dean of the Graduate Division

The Dean of the Graduate Division is responsible for all aspects of graduate education including the appointment of graduate faculty, the admission of graduate students, and the establishment and maintenance of standards in graduate programs. Also is responsible for the dissemination of information about faculty fellowships and awards, and administers fellowships and scholarship programs such as Fulbright, NDEA, NSF, NASA, and others.

In order to fulfill the above responsibilities, the Dean of the Graduate Division:

- Appoints faculty to serve as chairperson of each of the graduate fields of study.
- Approves the appointment of new faculty who may be eligible for nomination to the Graduate Faculty (13 or equivalent and up).
- Approves initial appointments of all Graduate Assistants, and any reappointments.

• Establishes and maintains standards of admission of graduate students, and requirements for continued registration thereof.

• Administers actions resulting in probation or dismissal of graduate students and all regulations related thereto.

• Performs any other necessary duties pertaining to graduate faculty, programs and students. Meets with a variety of University personnel and others daily for consultation, discussion, and examination of views, policies, and procedures.

In addition, Graduate Division is charged with additional functions performed through the Office of the Dean. These include:

1. University Research Council
   Graduate Division serves as the administrative arm of the University Research Council (URC). The intramural support for faculty projects, faculty travel to conferences or for equipment matching is administered by Graduate Division for the URC. Proposals are solicited, evaluations obtained, and URC decisions on funding are implemented. Fiscal support services and administrative assistance to faculty are provided by Graduate Division. The Dean or the Dean’s designee chairs the URC. Graduate Division is responsible for the administration of these funds, and prepares the annual reports as mandated by law.

2. Biomedical Research Support Grant
   Graduate Division serves as the administrative arm of the Biomedical Research Support Grant from the U.S. Public Health Service. Graduate Division applies for the grant and solicits proposals from the UHM faculty, arranges for review by the BRSG Committee, administers the awards to faculty and prepares and submits the final report to PHS annually.

3. UH-EWC Collaborative Research
   Graduate Division serves as the administrative arm of the UH-EWC Collaborative Research Program, convening the review committee and administering the funding for the approved projects. The Dean or Dean’s designee co-chairs the Committee and is responsible for the quarterly and the annual reports on the program.
4. Committee on Human Studies
   Graduate Division serves as the administrative arm of the Committee on Human Studies, mandated by the Federal Government and responsible for the review of all projects involving human subjects. The Compliance Grants Officer serves as the Executive Secretary of CHS.

5. University Patent and Copyright Committee
   The University Patent and Copyright Committee is co-chaired by the Dean or the Dean's designee. The PCC is charged with all decisions and actions on inventions and material that might be subject to copyright. Policy recommendations and procedure changes are also the responsibility of the PCC.

6. Research and Training Revolving Fund
   Graduate Division administers the Research and Training Revolving Fund. Preparing the annual reports to the Governor and the legislature on the use and impact of these funds is also a responsibility assigned to the Graduate Dean or the Dean's designee.
