

SAGE - A Worthy Student Initiative...

A new CE student organization has appeared, with these noteworthy features: SAGE is independent, it does not charge fees, though it carries a little advertising for and by the ISP (= Internet Service Provider). That last part is just a small price to pay for cost-free web hosting. This is how the group identifies itself:

We are a group of Counselor Education students working to promote communication, democracy, and empowerment within our department. Tentatively, we have chosen the name SAGE which stands for Students Advocating for Greater Empowerment. Please take a moment to visit SAGE's newly created website (the link is located at the bottom of this page). In it you'll find links to counseling and professional resources, an on-line forum, and upcoming student events.

SAGE members would be happy to meet with you at any time or include you on our mailing list. Representatives are available to make presentations to CE classes. Additionally, we are open to feedback and suggestions.

SAGE aims to provide a virtual community for our department and would like to invite and encourage CE faculty to visit the website. Our on-line forum currently has a discussion posted defining the terms "student empowerment" and "student advocacy". This forum was designed to allow anonymous comments to promote freedom of expression.

Thank you for your time and have a great day!

Aloha,

SAGE
