Dr. Virginia A. Miralao

Fulbright Visiting Senior Scholar, Columbia University

ABOUT THE LECTURE:

In her presentation, V.A. Miralao will share the initial results of state of the art reviews that Filipino social scientists have prepared for their disciplines for a proposed Philippine Social Science Report, an undertaking initiated by PSSC following the release of the 2010 World Social Science Report. These state of the art papers which were prepared for the disciplines of economics, sociology, psychology, political science, history, geography, linguistics, communication and public administration assess the progress and challenges of these disciplines in terms of producing a successor generation of Filipino social scientists, and the disciplines' contribution to knowledge-making via their research and publications outputs. The presentation will also include some discussion on how university-based Filipino social scientists are responding to global changes in knowledge production, and the impact of the brain drain and of consulting work opportunities on the Philippine social sciences.
