Each year over 550 senior citizens participate in the Na Kūpuna Senior Citizen Visitor program and attend classes during the fall and spring semesters at UH Mānoa.

As a “Guest” on the UH Mānoa campus, Na Kūpuna Visitors pay no tuition or student fees, and can actively pursue their love of learning while contributing their life experiences and unique perspectives in the classroom. There are no grades to worry about and no course credits are awarded.

In accordance with UH Mānoa regulations, Na Kūpuna are not students and must abide by policies for public conduct on campus and are classified as guests of the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa. SEED has the discretion to release guests from the program.

Na Kūpuna Senior Citizen Visitor Program is part of the Office of Student Equity Excellence and Diversity (SEED). SEED programs contribute to campus diversity and community service.
