Project

Tired of being "technology illiterate"? Want to tackle your technophobia? Then get on that computer keyboard, and "tap" your way to success!

You can earn a Technology Activators Sequence Certificate of Achievement while becoming more skilled and confident in the newer technologies available to educators!

The Technology Activators Project (TAP) provides in-service and pre-service teachers with strong technological skills that can be applied effectively to enhance teaching and facilitate the learning process. Any individual who is interested in learning more about educational technology in a supportive and encouraging climate is welcome to apply. TAP welcomes all learners, from the beginner to the advanced.
