   The HAP Board met on October 5. Materials were received to support proposals for four sections of HWST 107, which were thereby approved. Six faculty had responded to requests for clarification of proposals. One proposal will be accepted upon receipt of a revised syllabus. Each of the others must submit a revised syllabus and demonstrate more clearly the nature of the intersection between Asian and Pacific with Hawaiian experience/perspectives. Some concerns that arose: it is not enough to write “guest speaker” on a syllabus without naming the individual and topic; can Unit Mastery courses be expected to satisfy focus requirements?; secondary sources do not represent a genuine “native voice”; faculty often do not submit requisite listed materials (should there be a statement to the effect that proposals will be considered incomplete without them?).

   The Board is awaiting responses from four other faculty members, three of whom are traveling. The Board considered three new UHM proposals, approving two from Hawaiian Studies and requesting clarification on an ITE course. The Board also considered new proposals from community colleges, approving HUM 270 from Leeward, but requesting clarification on four renewals from Windward and five courses from Kapi‘olani.
