Science is good, but there are TMT, (Too Many Telescopes) on Hawaii's mountain top.

The cost for leasing a large telescope like Keck for one night, can be up to $20,000 or more! So, TMT is also about money-profit and competition for the biggest and best.

It is the decision of Kanaka to manage their lands, not the DLNR, nor University of Hawaii, nor corporations, national parks, Nature Conservancy, developers, etc. No more "No Trespassing" "No Fishing" "No Hunting" signs by America.

There should be a petition for immediate US military withdrawal from the Kingdom and immediate restoration of political recognition and status along with a cease and desist order stopping all illegal occupation, colonization, and building of illegal settlements and construction, pillaging, and the illegal sale of Kanaka Maoli lands.

The Kingdom adopted a Proclamation of Neutrality in 1854; therefore the USA illegal military occupation is a grave concern.

Mahalo for listening,
