13 telescopes are already in place. Many of which are not operating as I have read in many articles. How much building will be enough?

The outer islands hold the true beauty of Hawai‘i because there is still untouched and sacred areas. They should remain protected for the future generations to appreciate.

I am all for science and advancement in astronomy but if we continue to use that as the only reason to build we will have nothing left. Enough is enough. ‘A‘ole TMT.
