INTRODUCTION

2006 was an exceptionally busy and productive year for the Hawai'i Research Center for Futures Studies (HRCFS, or "Center"). Highlights included funded intensive participation in activities leading to the Kickoff of the Sustainability Hawaii 2050 Task Force of the Hawai'i State Legislature, and funded work with the School of Travel Industry Management of the University of Hawai'i, the Asia-Pacific Leadership Program of the East West Center, and the government and private sector of the Republic of Korea, among many other activities noted below.

BACKGROUND OF THE CENTER

The HRCFS was established by the Hawai'i State Legislature in 1971 to collect and disseminate information about futures studies and to conduct futures research for public and private groups within the State, the region, and throughout the world (Chapter 304A-3253).

Locally, the HRCFS recently transferred its administration from the Social Science Research Institute to the Department of Political Science. The Department has proven to be an invaluable resource, providing excellent facilities for our expanding work. The Website of the Center has been substantially modified, made more interactive and blog-like. The move has also allowed the HRCFS to work more closely with the Alternative Futures Graduate program in the Department. The Alternative Futures program, created in 1977, has produced scores of women and men who have gone on to become professional futures consultants in many fields, locally, nationally, and worldwide.

One component of the graduate program is a paid internship that many students experience with the Institute for Alternative Futures (IAF), in Alexandria, Virginia (one of the oldest and most respected futures consulting firms in the world), with the HRCFS itself, or with some other futures consulting firm. In 2006, students interned in the IAF and in the Long Now Foundation in California.

The HRCFS also cooperates with the Program in Public Administration, the School of Architecture, the School of Travel Industry Management, and other University units as well as the Asia-Pacific Leadership Program of the East-West Center on funded applied futures-oriented projects in Hawai'i and throughout the Asia-Pacific region.

Nationally, the HRCFS is a major futures resource. The HRCFS was responsible, with IAF, for creating the concept and development of "judicial foresight"--incorporating futures studies into judicial administrative decision-making. This began with work done by the HRCFS with the Hawai'i State Judiciary from the 1970s onward. Subsequently, the HRCFS has engaged in judicial foresight activities indirectly with all, and directly with ten, other U.S. state judiciaries, as well as with the U. S. federal judiciary, many national and state bar associations, and more recently with several foreign judiciaries and law-related entities, primarily in the Asia-Pacific. In 2006, the Center did workshops for the National Conference of Bar Association Presidents of the American Bar Association, and for the New Zealand National Police and Ministry of Justice. The State Justice Institute, a U.S. federal agency for state judiciaries, made the category "Futures and the Courts" one of its major funding categories specifically because of work done with and through the HRCFS and the IAF. The HRCFS has also consulted with many other governmental units, universities, businesses, religious organizations, and nonprofit entities throughout North America.

Globally, the World Futures Studies Federation (WFSF), the premier world organization of groups and individuals conducting futures research at a professional level, chose the Center to house the WFSF Secretariat during the 1980s and early 90s, and awarded the HRCFS its highest honor for excellence in futures research in 1994.

The Center has been an Affiliate Campus of the International Space University (ISU) of Strasbourg, France since 1996. As such, UH faculty and students participate in the Masters in Space Studies (MSS) program at the main campus in Strasbourg and the nine-week Special Session Program (SSP) that is held in different locations around the world (most recently, the University of West Australia, Adelaide; the University of Bremen, Germany; Federico Santa Maria Technical University, Valparaiso, Chile; and Suranaree University of Technology, Nakhon Ratchasima, Thailand. The SSP for 2007 will be at Beihang University, Beijing, China).

Similarly, selected ISU MSS students often come to the University of Hawai'i campus for their Internship Program. HRCFS and ISU also cooperate in various research, training and outreach projects.
