

Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Policy

Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) policy encompasses the idea that all qualified and eligible job applicants have the right to fair hiring practices. Only after an employer has interviewed all candidates should the most suitable person(s) be selected.

The UH Student Employment Offices' commitment to EEO is displayed through a system of established hiring procedures that assures all qualified and eligible students fair treatment. All employers are encouraged to familiarize themselves with such procedures. EEO is not only a student employment policy, it is also the policy of the University, and required by federal law of anyone receiving federal funds. Non-compliance by any one department could result in the University losing all its federal funding.

The University of Hawai`i is an equal employment opportunity/affirmative action employer and expects employers of university students to be likewise.
