

In Community with Our Shared Place: A Teacher's Journey

Whitney Aragaki (she/they) is an educator, parent, and learner from Hilo, Hawai'i. She supports students to learn through a lens of abundance that honors place, people, and cultures. Her teaching focuses around conversations, practices, and systems that sustain the intimate interrelationship of public education, community and environment.

In this talk, Whitney will share her continued teaching journey from her background as a Hawai'i public schools graduate through her experiences as the 2022 Hawai'i State Teacher of the Year and a National Teacher of the Year Finalist. She will discuss her experience of sharing the message of place-based education and the articulation of 'āina aloha, machizukuri, and Hawai'i to a national audience.

Cosponsored by Hamilton Library, the Spark M. Matsunaga Institute for Peace and Conflict Resolution, the School of Communication & Information, the Academy for Creative Media, the Hawai'inuiākea School of Hawaiian Knowledge, the Center for Oral History, and the Departments of Political Science, Ethnic Studies, and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies
