

How to enable Thai language support in Windows XP family.

1. Go to “Control Panel”
2. Locate the “Regional and Language Options” icon
3. Double click to open it

4. Go to the tab “Languages”
5. Under the “Supplemental Language Support”
6. Check “install files for complex script and right-to-left languages (including Thai) option to enable Thai support
7. Click apply button at the lower right of the windows to enforce Windows to remember the actions

8. Go to the tab named "Advanced"
9. Under the "Language for non-Unicode programs" select "Thai" from the list.
10. Click apply button at the lower right of the windows to enforce Windows to remember the actions
11. Click "OK" and restart the Windows

