Inequity Of Law On Cockfighting Told In Letter

Saying that it is possible to identify the language of the cockfighting ordinance in order to "protect the innocent" from law enforcement, Attorney Harriet Haining told the Board of Supervisors to "look for suitable language down so that only guilty are penalized for gambling."

The city-county ordinance regarding cockfighting makes more sense at a cockfight or in the vicinity of the cockfight a violation of the criminal law. This, Attorney Haining said in her letter to the mayor, "leaves the way open for considerable abuse of innocent citizens and deprivation of their rights by police officers" to design arrest.

Another very serious complaint that can be made against the law and its enforcement by law enforcement officers is that it is primarily involved against working people and those who are not made upon private business people. It is a general knowledge that gambling occurs, not upon the homes of well-to-do people.

Mrs. Haining's letter mentions that police officers are concerned with the fact that Mrs. Hite, the public prosecutor, and Mrs. Lien, the chief of police, have insisted that this (criminology) provision is necessary in the city code. Mrs. Haining cites the case of a "criminologist" to show the injustice of the ordinance (on page 4).

Mother's Query Reveals Top-Level Plans For War

Kamokila Is Re-Elected By Dock Workers

Hilo—Harry L. Kamokila was elected president and business agent and Elyon K. Paulinu and Tarkiail Sitwai were elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the Hawaiian Division of the longshoremen's union, ILWU, which is seeking an election conducted recently.

Frederick T. Low, Jr., who ran against Kamokila polled 107 votes as against the latter's 176. The two, who had candidates, were unopposed for their positions.

Electric of the six-member Hilo Division Executive Committee Board will take place in the near future. Represented on the board will be three members of the Hilo longshoremen and one member each from the Hilo warehousemen, Hilo carmen and maunana longshoremen. Yutaka Nakamachi has already been elected as board member for the Hilo Amona unit.

The division building committee consisted of George Spalding, chairman, Tatsushige Okino and Masami Ikeda.

Military Invades Schools, Brass Installs "Training"

Two weeks ago Walter Winchell said people should wash if they knew what James Forrestal intends doing with their lives—in the event of a war. Last week Thew Burnham called Forrestal the "most dangerous man in the U.S.

Here in the Territory there is evidence that top level plans for war have been carried out to an advanced degree. In the last war, the military was prepared to take over the direction of medical facilities, public housing, public utilities, trucking, gasoline and other services that fill a purpose.

The RECORDS manner of presentation is that James D. Mussey, a colonel in the U.S. Army, is at the school with the military. The military has been building up the school to include new buildings and the classrooms are being renovated.

The resolution adds: We recognize in this action upon the part (more on page 4)

Olala Xmas Benefit Party

Soup Kitchen for Locked-Out Workers at Olala

"Give to your fellow workers on strike at Hilo—then they can enjoy a Merry Christmas." That's the first line of an invitation to the dance on the night of Dec. 11, 1949 at 9:00 A.M. Qen the street from Pier 11. In addition to dancing and refreshments, there will be a program of entertainment featuring the versatile Manageress.

Mr. Hamakua who comes originally from Olala, is a marquis with a background of years of experience in Hawaii and on the mainland, where he used his to make a living.

But, however deft as a socialite, Mr. Hamakua can't pull enough money out of his hat to insure the aching workers and their families bountiful Christ- mas dinner. That will be up to the guests, say the dance's sponsors, who are Locals 146-159, I.U.W.U. The ball is donated by the AF of L and Independent unions. Donations of fifty cents a guest will be expected at the door.

WHO SAID THIS?

"...When the planter is entirely restricted to Japanese for his labor, employing, as some of them do, on one estate, 800 to 1,000 men... they become a nuisance, because of their disposition to get exacting and quarrelsome, and it appears to make a "masked" or "unconspicuous" plantation very distressing to the plantation...

The single nationality of labor or plantation is unworkable."
Hawaiian Summary

Shunted Pigs

Since pigs are neighbors of doubtful de- sarality, Oahu's pig breeders have been able to install pig booths in a few stores. They are produced largely from the local breeds and are sold at various prices.

Big Say-So

For West Coast marine workers who had been out on strike for 38 days, the longest strike in West Coast history was over. For Harry Lundeberg, the worker who had bargained about the "Reds" of the United Mine Workers, the strike was just beginning. The Lundebergs had been一遍分 the worst conditions in the United States, living in shanties and eating on the streets. They had not got the chance. Now after the strike, workers had endured a long and painful period and were in need of help. The strike was a victory for the workers.

His Job: "Interpretation"

The recent events have underscored the need for the National Association of Manufacturers to initiate an aggressive campaign to improve the relationships between the manufacturer and the consumer. This is the job of "Interpretation," he threatened to turn the West Coast in a jurisdictional strike.

National Summary

"Of course we had to cut their wages to practically nothing," he added.

When reporters asked him for details on the "Interpretation" program, he refused to comment. "We are going to give the workers what they need," he said.

France Was Fearful

"Well, I think it was a battle-cry of American radicals for generations. But last week Wall Street was being blamed for the fact that the Anglo-American plan to turn the Ruhr, West Germany's industrial powerhouse, back into the German cartels. Writer Colston Duff Peirce: "Behind Clay's (Gen. George S. Pickett's) plan to use the 11 German railroad companies was a high-policy decision of the U.S. bankers who own the cartel."

Carlisle, ultra-conservative cartoonist, showed a bit of the old spirit of old-fashioned patriotism in a cartoon showing President Wilson's face on the label of a new brand of "Wilson" cigarettes.

Two Steps Back

Almost two years ago President Truman took what was regarded as a new step in American foreign policy when he advocated the lifting of money, munitions, and coal sanctions against the Axis powers. This was done in order to prevent the Axis powers from using these resources for the purpose of the war. The Allied leaders, as a result, were forced to release these materials to the Axis powers. They were also forced to lift the embargo on the sale of these materials.

There are, President Truman told Congress, several thousand more German refugees running against the machinery laws in March, 1947, that the "Truman Doctrine" was first proposed.

Chaplin

Baron Kell, the UN general assembly meeting in Paris, the New Zealand representative called "Chaplin" assurances that North Korea could "break down". The Soviet Union and the United States agreed to the "Truman Doctrine" and endorsed the idea of a "Truman Doctrine" as a way to prevent the spread of communism in the world. The United States and the Soviet Union agreed on this. The "Truman Doctrine" also referred to the idea of the United States and the Soviet Union acting together to prevent the spread of communism in the world.

The World Summary

Within American news agencies, overseas bureaus, refusing to jump at any conclusions of the Chinese Civil War, where action had shifted from Shanghai to Peking. Wariness of the attitude of American businessmen in Shanghai and Peking, the "Chaplin" assurance may be a reflection of the attitude of the United States and the Soviet Union in this situation.

Warmed-Over News

There are, President Truman told Congress, several thousand more German refugees running against the machinery laws in March, 1947, that the "Truman Doctrine" was first proposed.

Chaplin

Baron Kell, the UN general assembly meeting in Paris, the New Zealand representative called "Chaplin" assurances that North Korea could "break down". The Soviet Union and the United States agreed to the "Truman Doctrine" and endorsed the idea of a "Truman Doctrine" as a way to prevent the spread of communism in the world. The United States and the Soviet Union agreed on this. The "Truman Doctrine" also referred to the idea of the United States and the Soviet Union acting together to prevent the spread of communism in the world.

There are, President Truman told Congress, several thousand more German refugees running against the machinery laws in March, 1947, that the "Truman Doctrine" was first proposed.

Chaplin

Baron Kell, the UN general assembly meeting in Paris, the New Zealand representative called "Chaplin" assurances that North Korea could "break down". The Soviet Union and the United States agreed to the "Truman Doctrine" and endorsed the idea of a "Truman Doctrine" as a way to prevent the spread of communism in the world. The United States and the Soviet Union agreed on this. The "Truman Doctrine" also referred to the idea of the United States and the Soviet Union acting together to prevent the spread of communism in the world.

There are, President Truman told Congress, several thousand more German refugees running against the machinery laws in March, 1947, that the "Truman Doctrine" was first proposed.

Chaplin

Baron Kell, the UN general assembly meeting in Paris, the New Zealand representative called "Chaplin" assurances that North Korea could "break down". The Soviet Union and the United States agreed to the "Truman Doctrine" and endorsed the idea of a "Truman Doctrine" as a way to prevent the spread of communism in the world. The United States and the Soviet Union agreed on this. The "Truman Doctrine" also referred to the idea of the United States and the Soviet Union acting together to prevent the spread of communism in the world.

There are, President Truman told Congress, several thousand more German refugees running against the machinery laws in March, 1947, that the "Truman Doctrine" was first proposed.

Chaplin

Baron Kell, the UN general assembly meeting in Paris, the New Zealand representative called "Chaplin" assurances that North Korea could "break down". The Soviet Union and the United States agreed to the "Truman Doctrine" and endorsed the idea of a "Truman Doctrine" as a way to prevent the spread of communism in the world. The United States and the Soviet Union agreed on this. The "Truman Doctrine" also referred to the idea of the United States and the Soviet Union acting together to prevent the spread of communism in the world.

There are, President Truman told Congress, several thousand more German refugees running against the machinery laws in March, 1947, that the "Truman Doctrine" was first proposed.

Chaplin

Baron Kell, the UN general assembly meeting in Paris, the New Zealand representative called "Chaplin" assurances that North Korea could "break down". The Soviet Union and the United States agreed to the "Truman Doctrine" and endorsed the idea of a "Truman Doctrine" as a way to prevent the spread of communism in the world. The United States and the Soviet Union agreed on this. The "Truman Doctrine" also referred to the idea of the United States and the Soviet Union acting together to prevent the spread of communism in the world.
"Bitch Of Buchenwald" Is Guilty--German Chemist

New York (AP) -- If Gen. J. Louis Clay is still looking for proof that Ilse Koch, the "bitch of Buchenwald," is guilty of covering human remains and other crimes, he can look to an overwhelming evidence from a former Buchenwald prisoner, Walter Wager, who was interviewed by the reporter in an interview with the National Guardian, which carries the exclusive story in its Nov. 20 issue.

Wager, a skilled chemist, was in Buchenwald from 1942 until liberation, and worked in the camp's pathology departments where bodies of dead or murdered prisoners were prepared for "scientific" experiments.

Here is what Wager would testify to about Ilse Koch if given the opportunity.

The Dead Prisoners

"Gen. Clay is freeing Ilse Koch because he says there is no convincing evidence against her. Yet Dr. Eva Dolez, Czech journalist and teacher, former Buchenwald prisoner and now assistant to the Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Blackett, testified under oath before an American military tribunal that Ilse Koch had to work on the project of producing useful objects of tattooed human skins for Ilse Koch. And Dr. Walter Wager, was forced to work on the same project.

"Commandant Koch one day happened upon a few hundred tattooed skins, thin as parchment, destined for Berlin. He had his hangers-on: 'I must show this to my friends. They may make a beautiful lampshade out of these.'

"Next day I got orders to report to Koch with a case of treated skins. Frau Koch was there in his room and personally picked out 18 skins that were especially o- to her. She told me to have a lampshade made of these.

"Commandant Koch and his friends bought several new lamps for treated human skins, until finally there came from Berlin a new round lamp, how to sell so few tattooed skins were arriving."

Skin from Living Prisoners

"After this censure, Dr. Mueller kept the crematorium Office secret. Previously only dead prisoners were supposed to get a tattoo. Now, living prisoners were sought out to provide more 'raw material,' so to stay in the confidence of the Office and the Koch family supplied.

NEW YORK: If Gen. J. Louis Clay is still looking for proof that Ilse Koch, the "bitch of Buchenwald," is guilty of covering human remains and other crimes, he can look to an overwhelming evidence from a former Buchenwald prisoner, Walter Wager, who was interviewed by the reporter in an interview with the National Guardian, which carries the exclusive story in its Nov. 20 issue.

Wager, a skilled chemist, was in Buchenwald from 1942 until liberation, and worked in the camp's pathology departments where bodies of dead or murdered prisoners were prepared for "scientific" experiments.

Here is what Wager would testify to about Ilse Koch if given the opportunity.

The Dead Prisoners

"Gen. Clay is freeing Ilse Koch because he says there is no convincing evidence against her. Yet Dr. Eva Dolez, Czech journalist and teacher, former Buchenwald prisoner and now assistant to the Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Blackett, testified under oath before an American military tribunal that Ilse Koch had to work on the project of producing useful objects of tattooed human skins for Ilse Koch. And Dr. Walter Wager, was forced to work on the same project.

"Commandant Koch one day happened upon a few hundred tattooed skins, thin as parchment, destined for Berlin. He had his hangers-on: 'I must show this to my friends. They may make a beautiful lampshade out of these.'

"Next day I got orders to report to Koch with a case of treated skins. Frau Koch was there in his room and personally picked out 18 skins that were especially o- to her. She told me to have a lampshade made of these.

"Commandant Koch and his friends bought several new lamps for treated human skins, until finally there came from Berlin a new round lamp, how to sell so few tattooed skins were arriving."

Skin from Living Prisoners

"After this censure, Dr. Mueller kept the crematorium Office secret. Previously only dead prisoners were supposed to get a tattoo. Now, living prisoners were sought out to provide more 'raw material,' so to stay in the confidence of the Office and the Koch family supplied.
Family Unit, ‘Heart of USA’ Is Vanishing

By John Williams

Once upon a time (perhaps as late as the day before yesterday), people used to go around saying that the family unit was the heart, soul and backbone of America.

Ministers of all denominations deplored the decline of the family, and prayed the family. The business world also deplored the family, and asked the family. The world of sports and entertainment deplored the family, and asked the family. Even the World War II generation deplored the family, and asked the family.

But now, the family is in peril. It is threatened by all sides, from the inside and out. The family is being torn apart by the forces of modern society. The family is under attack by the forces of technology.

And the family is under attack by the forces of nature. The family is being destroyed by the forces of nature. The family is being destroyed by the forces of nature. The family is being destroyed by the forces of nature.

So, when you read in the newspaper about how the real estate market is tanking, and how the stock market is crashing, and how the auto industry is in a crisis, you can be sure that the family is also in a crisis. The family is the heart, soul, and backbone of America.

In fact, the family is the very foundation of America. The family is the fabric of America. The family is the glue that holds America together.

In a time of crisis, the family must come together. The family must stand strong. The family must find a way to survive.

So, let us all support the family. Let us all stand together. Let us all fight for the family. Let us all preserve the family. Let us all love the family.

And let us all pray for the family. Let us all pray for the family. Let us all pray for the family. Let us all pray for the family.

Tip From Todd--Talking Texas Tough On Trousers

By Tino Todd

When I read in the newspaper about how the real estate market is tanking, and how the stock market is crashing, and how the auto industry is in a crisis, I had no idea how the family was doing.

With something like 30 million Texans on their football season, there must be at least 10 million bucks in the crowd, and there might be someone who would stand up and speak.

I got in my car, on the way home, and got talking on the radio. I turned it on, and it was playing some oldies. And I thought: ‘That’s not the family I know. That’s not the family I know.’

And then I thought: ‘I don’t know the new family. I know the old family. I know the family I grew up with. That’s the family I know.’

That family has left me, I know. I used to see them all the time. I used to see them all the time. I used to see them all the time. I used to see them all the time.

Inequality Of Law

On Cockfighting

(From page 1)

cocks and roosters, cockfighting law now as well as a similar provision in Section 11526, Revised Laws of Hawaii, 1945, relating to gambling games in general. In this case, Mrs. Beaudin says, “three people who were at work were arrested for being present at a cockfighting game, although the other officer was only a spectator. The other officer was only a spectator. The other officer was only a spectator. The other officer was only a spectator.

The case pleased guilty in the district court because a gambling game had been going on nearby and the “being present at a gambling game” statute has been given by the district court a dragnet effect. Furthermore, the three felt that to establish a凌lence would require further loss of work and money for the men.

The district magistrate sentenced the defendant to three days in jail immediately after their employer was arrested. They were not convicted for being in the gambling game. They were not convicted for being in the gambling game. They were not convicted for being in the gambling game.

In the Man-Bite-Dog category of news items is the story of English schoolchildren who are subject to a schoolbook of foolishness and the teachers--incredibly--are subject to a schoolbook of foolishness. The teachers--incredibly--are subject to a schoolbook of foolishness. The teachers--incredibly--are subject to a schoolbook of foolishness.

Read the RECORD
Oliver Bassett Hits The Grit Often; Paints What He Sees

All Oahu, and probably most of the Territory of Hawaii, has knowledge of W. K. Bassett. Not so well known is his son, Oliver, a young man who has been signed up by John Nielsen for the first time this year of exceptional artistic talent. He recently returned from a year in the South Pacific where he spent much of his time painting samples of water colors he painted there, and also some delightful greenhouse flowers.

Miss Lucille Berti, art teacher at Punahou, can well be proud of the student she formerly taught at Cora Hill School. Honestly speaking, one cannot help but feel that the world is better for his artistic endeavors.

Starting from San Francisco, he went up the coast by train and bus to Victoria, B. C., where he experienced a "most embarrassing" incident at the Canadian border. It seems that all the other passengers on the bus were familiar with border etiquette, so when asked by officials how long they intended to stay in Canada, they said "Two Weeks!" But Oliver was honest and admitted he had only two days there and had to find work until ready to move on. This was in fact impossible, and so, since he had less than the amount of money he needed to continue his stay, he politely told them he could not enter the country fear he might miss his train and become a sort of Twenty-first Ward of Canada.

Can't Paint Sans Supplice

Therefore, he had to walk the 500 miles back to the U. S. side and work in the Cypress yard on the Great Northern Railroad, on which they worked on a job for the Great Northern.

Beautiful as that part of the

NAACP Leader Hits Colonialism

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The American foreign policy has "helped" to damper and possibly even to end the dreams of millions of human beings throughout the world," according to a report to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People told the recent NAACP convention.

He charged U. S. influence on the United Nations and voted co-constitutively with the colonial powers to install any "black" as "colonialist of colonialism" in Asia, Africa, and the Americas.

It is observed in Manchuria, Indonesia and Nigeria that the "ominous warning that these non-white people are determined to end white imperialism and to gain freedom long denied for them most".

He called on the President to make any more speech he health to justify. "The President who has staked in this country on it, might do no paint other than to make some necessary apologies." Fifty miles away was the nearest "city," which was also without fine over-time equipment, but he could try a typewriter ribbon, so he moved on to Colorado Springs, where his wife was from.

There he found work with the W. A. and found for a while. Leaving arrived in November when the season is off, he spent his time exploring the country and painting. He has some excellent pictures to prove it, too. When the tourists arrived and the job with the fur man folded, he read history by hand-writing at the Summer Arcade and printed fake newspaper headlines.

Farm Show Art Show

At Pueblo, Colorado, he entered a group of his work in the Fair Show, which was seen by between 30 and 40 thousand people, amounting to the gallery's estimate. He visited rodeos, factories and ranches and climbed mountains — everywhere he painted.

After leaving Colorado, he traveled to Reno, Las Vegas, San Francisco and Washington, visiting friends and working until ready to move on, and so to San Francisco again and home.

People who visit Mayor Wilson's office and see the paintings on the walls will notice O. C. Bassett's

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Hilo, Hawaii

Dealers in Hamilton, Eight and Bubal Watches

Morimoto Store

1216 Kamakeha Avenue

EXCELLENT FOOD

Good Service

KUHIO CAFE

1216 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

LIQUOR & MAGAZINES

Family Liquor Store

1216 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

1216 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

Dealers in Hamilton, Eight and Bubal Watches

Morimoto Store

1216 Kamakeha Avenue

EXCELLENT FOOD

Good Service

KUHIO CAFE

1216 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

For Christmas

Give Your Friends A Year's Subscription to THE RECORD

A Gift People Will Appreciate

Waiaka Pool Hall

Where Miller's hobby plot together for enjoyment—

1420 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

V. T. HAM, Prop.

For Christmas

Give Your Friends A Year's Subscription to THE RECORD

A Gift People Will Appreciate

Waiaka Pool Hall

Where Miller's hobby plot together for enjoyment—

1420 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

V. T. HAM, Prop.

For Christmas

Give Your Friends A Year's Subscription to THE RECORD

A Gift People Will Appreciate

Waiaka Pool Hall

Where Miller's hobby plot together for enjoyment—

1420 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

V. T. HAM, Prop.

For Christmas

Give Your Friends A Year's Subscription to THE RECORD

A Gift People Will Appreciate

Waiaka Pool Hall

Where Miller's hobby plot together for enjoyment—

1420 Kamakeha Avenue

Hilo, Hawaii

V. T. HAM, Prop.
The University of Hawaii was established in every department of the game in losing to Texas Mines 48-5 last Saturday afternoon.

The Lone Star Staters outgunned, outmaneuvered, and out-played the Hawaiian team, and theyblanketed the Terriers throughout the game and failed to show any semblance of their usual拍拍 13-0 edge. The Terriers were blocked topographically by the excellent defense of the Miners, and the game was played more like a 13-0 game, with both teams playing better than usual.

The offensive performance was a letdown for the Terriers, who were unable to capitalize on their chances. The game was a total letdown for the Terriers, as they were unable to score against the Miners. The game was a total letdown for the Terriers, as they were unable to score against the Miners.

LARRY J. HAYASHI

Larry Doby's World Series check was last enough for not over him.

Larry Doby's World Series check was last enough for not over him.
Born Tempo Slow; Comedy Carries Punch

By GEORGE PULLEN

This week at the Community Theatre comes the third production of the fall season, Born Yesterday, a gem of a comedy superbly performed by a capable ensemble cast.

We are on the edge of the twentieth century, and we look back to the twenties for much of our present-day humor. Born Yesterday, set in the twenties, is a success, not only because of the writing, but because of the acting.

And, while we are on the subject of acting, we must mention the cast. The two leads, Mr. and Mrs. Acres, are played by a capable ensemble cast, with a particular commendation for the two youngsters, who have performed well beyond their years.

In conclusion, Born Yesterday is a success, and should be seen by all who enjoy good comedy.

Worm Will Turn

Born Yesterday, although geared for leisurely pacing, is as fast as any show as well as having the worm turn. The attention is on: words of Billy Devore, the big hobo, "High pressure. Worm knowledge is a dangerous thing."

This story of a quaffer junk dealer, who has arrived at the top of the ladder, of his lugubrious gift of conversation, and his concern for the world, is interpreted with finesse and precision. The interpretation is most consistent and merits fine recognition.

Tom Walsh, who plays the lead in the Community Theatre, delivers with a certain kind of engaging and demanding portrayal of a character that is both sympathetic and disgusting.

As usual, the cast is capable. mogberts, an actor, has been praised for his portrayal of Billy, and his performance has been the talk of the town.

In conclusion, Born Yesterday is a show that should not be missed, and it is one that should not be underestimated.

Lilywhite Bars Barred By Union

HAMBRECHT, Mich. (AP)—Chairman Orlando of the Dodge Local 3 fair practice commit- tee, said yesterday that the strike was settled.

"Across from the doghouse main plant the bars and restaurants refused to serve Negroes. These places couldn't exist here without the support of the union members, regardless of race or color," said Orlando. "The settlement of this fair practice question is a victory for the workers."

Wide Use of 16mm Films By ILWU

The 16mm sound motion picture is becoming more popular with the public. The films are being used for educational purposes, and are being shown in schools, colleges, and other institutions.

The films are being shown to a wide audience, and are being used for educational and entertainment purposes. The films are being shown in schools, colleges, and other institutions.

Looking Backward

Looking backward to the northern hemisphere, it was the history of moving southward, in the southern hemisphere, it was the history of moving northward. The two hemispheres are not alike, but they have certain common elements.

The most notable of these is the fact that the history of the northern hemisphere is not the same as the history of the southern hemisphere. The two hemispheres are not alike, but they have certain common elements.

The patients benefit from group health association

The patients benefit from group health association, which is a means of providing health care for a group of people. The patients benefit from group health association, which is a means of providing health care for a group of people.

Benefits Paid

Benefit paid more physicians with different specialties are being housed in the Galveston area. However, most of these groups are located in different parts of the city and under one roof. While these men share rent, equipment, and other services, they are still independent of each other.

In conclusion, the group of physicians with different specialties are being housed in the Galveston area. However, most of these groups are located in different parts of the city and under one roof. While these men share rent, equipment, and other services, they are still independent of each other.

YOU ARE MISSING A BET

If you don't take advantage of the RECORD's weekend circulation to advertise your entertainment features — Picnics, Dances, Plays, Benefit Parties and Raffles —

GET YOUR AD IN EARLY TO INSURE ITS BEING GIVEN A GOOD POSITION.
THE SUNY FEAR.

One more anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack has gone by and this reminds us that the war, which started with a victory, had ended more than three years ago. We have had three wars in the past, and all of them led to disaster.

Because of this, no peace treaty has been signed between Japan and the United States or with any other nation.

The United States is still fighting in numerous countries where the oppressed people are fighting for their liberation. A very clear example of this is China, where the people are fighting against the communists, believing implicitly that a common victory would enhance their liberation.

But in countries like Greece and China, where we have seen and heard about the fight for peace and good will, we have seen that the people are not really interested in the peace talks that are going on.

President Truman recently reminded the Greek people that the US had helped them and had contributed to their fight.

The US had sent billions of dollars in military aid to Greece and other countries. The US had also sent thousands of soldiers who were fighting in the war.

At these odds we must be prepared to fight for our support in the struggle to end the war.

HOUSING NEEDS OF MINORITIES.

It is more than three years now since the evacuated area on the Pacific coast was reopened to persons of Japanese ancestry. More than 60,000 persons have returned to those three states to the State of California alone. Of these returnees, many are living in war-born public housing projects, while thousands of others have been subjected to sub-marginal housing conditions.

It is in this critical situation that we must be concerned with the housing needs of minority groups.

Looking backward.

Dazzled By The Light Of The Stars.

Of all the predictions made on Japan's Japanese-American War, the one made by Tobico Tangle, editor of the now-defunct Japanese-American News, made the most interesting reading today.

In the 60th anniversary issue of the magazine, published on Oct. 1, 1941, Mr. Tangle, who was a strong advocate of Japan's "Co-prosperity Sphere Policy," made some predictions (we can't analyze an article) which certainly must have provided his readers with serious entertainment.

Conclusion.

This does not mean that Editor Tangle was not serious. He dealt with the subject of U.S.-Japanese relations in his editorial, "Has the Way There Won't Be Japanese-American War," to make his point that there will never be a war between the two countries. Obviously, he was proud of this editorial, for it was reprinted from an earlier issue of his magazine.

The following translation of excerpts from Editor Tangle's editorial three months before the Pearl Harbor attack, gives the basis for his prediction:

"Historic Joint Statement: What are the fundamental reasons for the fact that the United States cannot easily go into war against each other? It is due to natural biological and historical relations as follows:

"Japan and the United States are separated by several hundred miles and firmly bound together by blood. The American flag is symbolized by stars and the flag of Japan is symbolized by sun. The stars and sun are bound together by light; the sun is within the stars and the stars are within the sun. Civilization flourishes in the temperate zone of the earth, and the temperate zone is the zone where the night is brightened by the stars, and day, symbolized by the sun, are in harmony. From the point of view of symbolism, Japan and the United States should be in friendly and peaceful relations eternally.

"The History of Japanese-American relations, though they varied in route, did not become a country to a smaller country, and of an advanced country to a backward country consisted of pages of understanding, friendship and peace. In other words, during the 65 years from 1854 to 1860, Japan, though having the qualities of becoming a great country, became the "Japan of Asia" due to the leadership of America and the Americans. This is an undeniable fact...

"Counterparts vs. Arguments:

"The trees of southern hemisphere flourished, and the trees of northern hemisphere flourished. And it is not only the phenomenon in the world of plants; there are similar tendencies in the phenomenon in the human...

By W. K. Basset.

The Virtue of Mr. Soares

Mr. Soares, a candidate for the office of Congress for the Third District of the House of Representatives, is a man of great ability and integrity. He has been a leading figure in the Democratic Party, and has always been active in the local politics.

Mr. Soares is a man of great ability and integrity. He has been a leading figure in the Democratic Party, and has always been active in the local politics.

Mr. Soares is a man of great ability and integrity. He has been a leading figure in the Democratic Party, and has always been active in the local politics.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.

By W. K. Basset.