Inside Story of Three Kauai County Suspensions Points To Polit. Promises

By SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

LIHUE, Kauai—The inside story of the suspension of three County of Kauai employees for alleged "payroll irregularities" is much different from the versions printed in Honolulu's dailies. None of the newspapers even interviewed the three suspended men, who told their stories over race station KYOK on Friday migration.

Behind the suspensions is the story of county politics, which goes back to the time when Kauai's residents expected action when the new Democratic administration took over on January 2. Proclamation Earnest Bantine Surner County Chairman Jonathan O. Bapstie had promised the people a change. Because of his program, Bapstie had the support of organized labor, local businessmen, and the people of Kauai. The result was a landslide victory for the Democrats.

One of Bapstie's main supporters was Sakari Suzuki, an officer of the United Public Workers of America. Suzuki worked hard during the campaign to get labor to support Bapstie.

Suzuki's former union leaders resent the suspensions, and they are urging the employees to resist. For Suzuki, the suspension is a direct attack on the labor movement.

Suzuki was suspended along with the other two employees on January 2. The suspension letter from Chairman Bapstie cited "inadequate supervision" as the reason for the suspension. According to the suspended men's lawyer, they were being used as scapegoats for the failure of the County of Kauai to control payroll fraud.

Suzuki was eager to return to work and help the County. He felt that the suspension was a setback, but he was confident that he could overcome it.

Investment In Philippines Real Estate Good, Says Lovina; Some Skeptical

"Real estate is a good investment in the Philippines," said Mrs. Lovina O. Bapstie, secretary of the labor union on the island, "and it has the potential to bring in a good return on investment."

While looking for possible investors in the Philippines, Lovina said that the Philippine government has been actively promoting real estate projects. She suggested that anyone interested in investing in the Philippines should contact the Philippine Government's Office of Real Estate.

Kauai County Only School District

Kauai County is the only school district in Hawaii to offer a summer school program for students. The program is designed to help students who need extra help in their studies.

Kauai County Legislature

The Kauai County Legislature is currently considering bills that will affect the county's school district. Some of the bills would increase funding for the schools, while others would increase taxes on local residents.

Mayor Hits Board; "Sorry for City" As Supervisors Reject Bobby Miller

By EDWARD ROHRBOUGH

"I am sorry, not for Mr. Miller; he doesn't need the job. I am sorry for the city," Mayor送来 tell the board.

There were the words with which Mayor Wilson reminded the board of supervisors after they voted unanimously not to confirm Robert Miller, architect to the civil service commission appointment to which Wilson had nominated him.

Praise Miller's Works

The mayor spoke briefly to the new members of the board and he said he felt that they could not know the good works performed by Miller when he served on the commission for a show's time more than two years ago. The mayor outlined some of these works and stressed especially the gains reports, an outgrowth of Miller's activity, and told more than half of the reports 100 and commendations had been adopted.

"You never been in favor of civil service," Mayor Wilson said. "I've been opposed to it, but we have the law and I'm trying to have that law enforced."

Japanese People Against Rearmament Program

In a strongly suggestive understatement John Foster Dulles, ambassador-at-large, said in Manila that the U.S. will form a sympathetic war in any plans for a Pacific Pact similar to the North Atlantic Pact. This statement was specifically referred to the 17 nations of the Pacific Pact.

Japan, with the assistance of the United States, will be able to form a defensive military alliance against any expansion of the Soviet Union.

Japan is not alone in its efforts to form a defensive military alliance against any expansion of the Soviet Union. The United States and other nations of the Pacific Pact, such as the Philippines and Australia, have also expressed their support for Japan's efforts.

The Japanese people are currently engaged in a movement to oppose the rearmament program. They believe that it is not in their best interest to join in the arms race.

The Japanese people are also opposed to the establishment of a Pacific Pact. They believe that the United States is using Japan as a pawn in its strategy to contain the Soviet Union.

The Japanese people are also concerned about the economic consequences of the rearmament program. They believe that it will lead to increased inflation and a decrease in their standard of living.

The Japanese people are demanding the resignation of the government and the replacement of the current leaders with people who are more committed to peace and cooperation.

The Japanese people are determined to protect their hard-won peace and freedom.

The Japanese people are united in their opposition to the rearmament program and are prepared to take whatever action is necessary to ensure that peace and freedom are preserved.

The Japanese people are demanding that the United States and other nations of the Pacific Pact respect their right to determine their own future without interference from outside forces.

The Japanese people are challenging the United States and other nations of the Pacific Pact to justify their actions and to show that they are truly committed to peace and cooperation.

The Japanese people are not alone in their efforts to protect their hard-won peace and freedom. Their struggle is supported by people all over the world who are opposed to the rearmament program and to the expansion of the Soviet Union.
SCABS!" was the word hurled at these two Pacific Laundry workers by the mob that packed the front line Saturday shortly after six were arrested for blocking outgoing trucks. Several girls, standing beside these men, ran when the camera was aimed toward them.

Pacific Laundry Girls Unperturbed by Arrest — Stick To Their Demands

By STAFF WRITER

"Scab!" was the shout that went up from some of the girls before the Pacific Laundry, 929 Chapman st., last night when some thirty other strikers and a number of assorted strike-breakers were caught outside the laundry at the time.

It was a word that brought some of the workers to join the picket line and it brought drivers off the laundry trucks.

"I’m not going to be a scab any more," said one driver who had remained on the job for several days, because his wife told him he should be "loyal" to the laundry manager, Robert C. Kilhams.

"I guess," said a union man, "he decided he was too loyal to his family."

The girls, marching in the second week of their strike for union recognition and better working conditions, won the praise of veterans of many strikes, from longshore workers to drivers of beer trucks, for their courage and determination.

At all times, their demands had grown since the beginning. Though it had been made for many weeks ago, they had not yielded, even to the meager offers of the management.

The strike of the women of the laundry is still in effect, as the union leaders made their way to the Kalapauu Hansen’s Disease Settlement.

Fire Trial Charged

A "fire trial" charge is based on three situations described by the workers as follows:

1. There is no fire escape, nor any means of quick egress for many workers employed on the second floor of one building.

2. A stairway, which might offer an exit, has been partitioned off and is blocked by pipes and iron on the exterior.

3. A second floor is unsafe

PROCLAIMING the complaints of Pacific Laundry employees, they carry their signs along Kapiolani Boulevard toward the fashionable shops. Later, they moved in closer, in front of the laundry’s door.

A resident businesswoman who pays $200 a month for the space adjoining the laundry on which she operates Richard’s Car Laundry, broke out in tears.

"The fire has broken out in twice since I’ve been here," says Benjamin. "I’ve almost lost it and put it out."

A T. Takikawa, chief mechanic at the laundry and out on strike with the girls, said the lack of a fire escape. "There’s no way those girls could get out. They couldn’t get out those windows," he said. "I don’t know how they got away.

Blame Wialulu Sugar’s Wall for Flood Damage, Petition Asks Removal

PUNUNUKU, Maui—Residents of the Wialulu Sugar area have appealed to the Sugar Plantation Co. to take down the concrete wall on the highway. The wall is said to have caused flood damage and destruction.

California also stated that the people who live there have been under water for more than 100 days, that the Maui News is afraid to print the true facts about the wall.

According to a certain individual who represents the residents of this area, every rain that falls around the people of this district is afraid to come near.

CONDEMN LA OVAI VALLEY WATER RIGHTS; DUARTE MAY ASK LEGISLATURE

BY SPECIAL WRITER

The real problem behind the flood control of the Iao Valley on Maui, according to Dr. John D. Plants, a local water engineer, is that water rights. They must be acquired and all rights will not be enforced until the Territory acquires water right for its own use and issues permits to the company for the sale of water to the road, including water-shed.

Toward that end, it is reported, Sen. John G. Duarte is prepared to introduce a bill for the enactment of the legislation. He wants the bill approved by the legislature. The bill will state that the company has the right to purchase and sell water to the road. The bill will also include a provision for the sale of water to the road.

He advised the mayor that if department heads were breaking on breaking the law, the mayor should pursue them himself.

Long Cause

Mayor Wilson was considering the unanimous rejection of another extensions of Theodore Miller, who is running for the city-county prosecutor job, for just the supervisors, possibly leave him a place in their unit. He found Congress of the pre-merger caucus that lasted from 8:30 until 11 p.m., when the meeting came to order.

At a previous caucus last week, the RECORD learned, Mayor Wilson criticized the supervisors for telling him that the reason for the feeling to agree on Democrats' appointment likely to be for his refusal to say anything about Mayor Wilson is said to have left the caucus without returning to Republicans alike, that he believed there was not the faintest hint of what he might uncover.

Another appointment, comparatively minor from a political viewpoint, was abandoned in the caucus this week. Wilson, who has been strong against some of the supervisors' previous efforts, has now been cowed by a pressured letter sent them by the DMA organization.

DMU's Pressure Tactics

The appointment of the olestrist on the board by Mayor Wilson, Con-

Barber was cited for embezzlement by the DMU's tactics and more detailed than ever to re.

The Struggles of the Corner Grocers

The corner grocery stores still carry on a goodly share of island business, even in Honolulu where super-markets have amounted to over 600 in the past decade. Many of them are being squeezed out gradually by the big chains, but they still have a strong following among those who prefer smaller, more personal service. In the past, the "invasion" of chain stores into the retail trade has been met with resistance, but today the small stores are not only competing with the bigger chains, they are also fighting for survival.

B U S I N E S S  P R O G R E S S

"Though we have had local chain-store systems in Honolulu for several years, the coming of Western Auto Supply marked the first direct invasion from the mainland. Later came the Piggy Wiggly stores, and now the coming of these chain grocery stores to Hawaii have seen the taking over of Serron, Smith's chain of drug stores, and the E.C. Beamer store, which in turn has been taken over by a new chain, the result being that the small stores have a much higher cost than the bigger stores.

When Piggy Wiggly came to Hawaii there were many pessimistic predictions that the small corner grocers would be forced out of business. But the small stores are able to offer a higher quality of service and a greater profit for the customer, and they are therefore able to survive and thrive in the competitive market.

When Attorney Dulbert E. Meager (now federal court judge), discovered that the handwriting of the S.S. District, the bank's handwriting expert, was incorrect, he immediately investigated the matter. It was discovered that the handwriting expert had been working under a pseudonym, and that the expert's handwriting was actually that of another person. This opened the door to a wide range of possibilities, and further investigations revealed that the handwriting expert himself had been working under a false name. The case was eventually settled out of court, and the handwriting expert was dismissed from his position. This incident brought to light the importance of accurate handwriting in the legal field, and it also demonstrated the need for careful investigation and due diligence in all matters involving handwriting. It is important to note that this was not the first, nor the last, time that a handwriting expert was found to have been working under a false name, and it is hoped that this incident will serve as a lesson to all those involved in handwriting analysis.
