

The William S. Richardson School of Law, the Hawai'i State Bar Association, and the Hawai'i State Judiciary are honored to present

"The Legal Landscape under the Obama Administration"
by

Charles Ogletree
2010 Frank Boas Harvard Visiting Professor
Jesse Climenko Professor of Law
Executive Director, Charles Hamilton Houston Institute for Race and Justice
Harvard Law School

Professor Ogletree is the 2010 Frank Boas Harvard Visiting Professor teaching a mini-course this winter in the Law School's annual January Term on "President Obama's Impact on America and Beyond: How Will He Help Shape the Legal Landscape." Professor Ogletree is a prominent legal theorist and prolific writer with an international reputation as an expert on race and justice. He holds the Jesse Climenko Professor of Law Chair and serves as Executive Director of the Charles Hamilton Houston Institute for Race and Justice at Harvard Law School. He earned an M.A. and B.A. (with distinction) in Political Science from Stanford University, where he was Phi Beta Kappa, and holds a J.D. from Harvard Law School, where he served as Special Projects Editor of the Harvard Civil Rights - Civil Liberties Law Review. Professor Ogletree taught both President Obama and First Lady Michelle Obama at Harvard; he has remained close to President Obama throughout his political career.

*Friday, January 15, 2010
12:00 – 1:30 p.m.
Hawai'i State Supreme Court
417 South King Street*

Limited seating; Free and Open to the Public