Reconstituting the DLAC

Charge

The Distributed Learning Advisory Committee (DLAC) is the lead systemwide group that helps the University of Hawaii advance its mission through distributed and distance learning. The focus of the DLAC is on helping all parts of the UH System work effectively together to extend access to higher education throughout the State of Hawaii, improve the quality of educational services to UH students, and reach new constituencies primarily in the State of Hawaii. The DLAC is not intended as an operational body, but is responsible to proactively identify and catalyze action on systemic issues as they arise. The DLAC advises and counsels administrators, policy-makers, and other groups such as the Council of Chancellors, the Council of Chief Academic Officers, the Council of Chief Student Affairs Officers and the Library Council as appropriate. The DLAC prepares, monitors and oversees a systemwide distributed learning action plan that supports overall strategic plans and priorities of the UH system and campuses (http://www.hawaii.edu/dlplan).
