

Winter Solstice

Yalda Night (Shab-e Yalda)

شب یلدا

Winter Solstice, the longest night of the year, which is the last night of fall (December 20/21, depending on the year) is celebrated and referred to as Shab-e Yalda/Shab-e Chelleh in Iranian culture. This celebration has been one of the most significant Iranian celebrations since the time of ancient Iran.

Yalda Night is typically celebrated in form of a social gathering to eat/drink and read Persian poetry, particularly poems by the great Iranian poet Hafez.

University of Hawaii at Manoa
Tokioka Room,
319 Moore Hall
Friday, December 20
5-8 pm
Shab-e Yalda Potluck

Dried fruit, nuts, fresh fruit (watermelon and pomegranate), and cookies/sweets will be served.

College of Languages, Linguistics, and Literature,
Department of IPLL,
Persian Language, Linguistics, and Culture Program, an exciting initiative made possible through a grant from and in partnership with Roshan Cultural Heritage Institute
(<http://www.roshan-institute.org>)