Fighting for Justice is a documentary with special insight and inspiration for law students and young lawyers interested in social justice. The film traces the legal struggle of Fred Korematsu, Gordon Hirabayashi, and Min Yasui as their legal teams of mostly idealistic young lawyers worked to exonerate them for defying military orders connected with the incarceration of the Japanese Americans during World War II. The film addresses how law students, lawyers, and community advocates can join together to undo longstanding historical injustices.

Following the film and remarks, there will be a question and answer session with Professor Yamamoto and Carole Hayashino.

When: Thursday, January 29, 2015

Time: 5:30 - 6:45 p.m.

Where: William S. Richardson
School of Law, Classroom 2

This event is free. All law students, faculty and staff, HSBA members, and the general public are invited. Refreshments will be served. If you have any questions, please contact Ryan Hamaguchi at RMH@caselombardi.com.
