of Medicine. At the law school he teaches Law, Aging and Medicine, Elder Law Clinic, Advanced Elder Law Clinic, and Health Law: Bioethics. At the John A. Burns School of Medicine he specializes in issues at the intersection of law, aging, medicine, bioethics and psychiatry.

Prepare for the Worst and Expect the Best

We may all face a time when we can no longer make legal or financial decisions for ourselves or we just would like someone to assist us with these decisions. If we become mentally incapacitated we especially need someone to step in to act on our behalf and to protect our interests. Come and learn about the new 2014 Uniform Power of Attorney Act (UPOAA).

After completion of this seminar:

- You will have a better understanding of the new power of attorney law, its protections, its limitations and its risks.
- You will have information on how to execute powers of attorney under the new UPOAA and to understand the importance of integrating this legal tool with other planning tools such as advance directives.
- You will learn why it is important to act while the individual granting the power still has the mental capacity to do so.
- You will be better prepared to help your client, patient, family members and even yourself.

Free event • RSVP by February 9th at 956-6544 or uhelp.edu@gmail.com
